Hazard land issue still snags by-law

A consultant from the Engineering firm of Proctor and Redfern has given careful reading to all objections to the zoning by-law of Anson, Hindon and Minden municipality, but the issue of hazard land zoning in the new draft by-law is still unresolved.

At a special meeting held June 29 at the municipal arena, Minden council met with Tony Holmes of Proctor and Redfern at a session that lasted most of the day. Holmes told the group that, while most residents' objections had been dealt with through revisions to the document, the Ministry of Natural Resources' objections to hazard land zoning will require further attention before it can be passed at the Ontario Municipal Board this fall.

Hazard Land zoning which is meant to include all areas with a potential for flooding, was restricted to 66 feet on either side of the Gull River in the by-law mapping, an area which MNR officials told council was not sufficient to meet the provincial guidelines for flood plain management. Minden council has since claimed that extending hazard land zoning into the downtown area, which would comply with MNR guidelines, would severely restrict new development in the core area.

Representatives from the Ministry are scheduled to attend the July 14 regular session of Minden council to discuss the zoning.

According to councillor Ed Pergolas, the objections received over the by-law included roughly thirty different sections of the document. R3 zoning, which was loudly protested by a number of cottage residents and members of the Soyers' Lake Cottagers Association, has been changed to allow a lot frontage of 40 metres on lakeshore property. The draft by-law circulated by the municipality earlier this year listed the R3 frontage as 25 metres, which the municipality has said was an error.

Pergolas also said Monday that the municipality will now be seeking permission from the OMB not to recirculate the document before it is reviewed at an OMB hearing. According to Pergolas the OMB may rule that the document be recirculated to ratepayers if too many amendments to the by-law are necessary to deal with objections. Lutterworth municipality has been forced to recirculate its by-law because of problems with hazard land zoning similar to those in the Minden by-law.

Pergolas said that roughly 50 amendments have been made to the by-law to satisfy objections from ratepayers. He added that the OMB hearing may be scheduled for September or October of this year, although no exact date has yet been set.

Eakins upset by findings of Kanawa study

Describing the interim findings of a consultants' report on the future of the Kanawa Canoe Museum as "a tragedy", Victoria-Haliburton M.P.P. John Eakins says every effort should be made to ensure the collection of canoes and kayaks remains in the county.

"The recommendations of the study, if they are followed through, would rob Haliburton County of one of the major tourist attractions," Eakins commented Tuesday. "I'm incensed."

The M.P.P. was referring to the main recommendations of a report released in Peterborough two weeks ago which suggested that that community would be the best location for the museum. The collection of canoes and kayaks, considered unique in the world, is presently located in Stanhope Township on property adjacent to Camp Kandalore.

"The collection could be developed into a major tourist attraction for the county," Eakins commented. "Better signing for the museum, improved facilities at the site would enhance the museum. There is no reason that Haliburton County should not be the home of a world class museum such as that proposed for the collection," Eakins stated.

He pointed out that the Ministry of Natural Resources Frost Centre at Dorset is providing interpretive programs for visitors to the area. Developing the museum here would provide it with its most logical location, Eakins suggested.

"The provincial authorities have also poured money into the development of the Minden Wild Water Preserve, this museum ties in closely with that development as well," Eakins said.

Eakins questioned the reasoning behind the suggestion that Peterborough should be the location for the museum. "It is tough enough to attract industry to the Haliburton County area, to lose a potential development like this would be a slap in the face." He said that everything should be done to reverse the findings of the study and that both federal and provincial governments, which will be responsible for the funding of a museum, be made aware of the serious consequences for the area if the collection is allowed to be moved to Peterborough.

A spokesman for the local organization lobbying to have the museum remain here, Stu Brandon, commented that appeals have been planned to authorities at both levels of government.

Our cops are tops

Its police appreciation week in Minden.

Created by the merchants in the community and endorsed by the municipal council, the week is being held to honour the members of the Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police for their dedicated service to the community.

Two events of interest to everyone in the area will help to mark the special week. The Ontario Provincial Police display trailer will be located on Main Street, in the area beside the CIBC. The public will be invited to visit the trailer and view the exhibits. The trailer will be open regular business hours, Friday through Sunday.

Also this week, on Thursday evening, members of the local detachment baseball team will take on the Minden Dixie Lee Seniors ladies softball team. The game gets underway at 7:30 at the Minden diamond.

CFMX's licence restored

After months of intense lobbying by classical music lovers throughout Southern Ontario, Cobourg FM station CFMX has had its licence renewed by the Canadian Radio and Television Commission.

The Cobourg station went off the air September 30 last year, after the CRTC refused to renew its licence because of what were cited as technical problems with the station. The move by the CRTC drew wide spread protests from CFMX listeners, who claimed that the station's classical music programming was unique in the province.

The CRTC's decision is the result of several months deliberation by five of the commission's nine full-time members. The lobby group, formed to act on behalf of the station, called "Friends of CFMX", presented a strong appeal to the commission at a CRTC hearing held March 30 in Cobourg. The hearing was attended by a delegation from Haliburton County, which is one of the areas served by the Cobourg station.

CFMX owner D. B. Williamson met with the five-member panel in Ottawa June 28 to hear the decision announced. According to the report released that day by the CRTC, the station will have to ensure uninterrupted service to have the licence remain in place. The group told Williamson that CFMX broadcasting will be monitored to ensure that CRTC standards are met.

Williamson, who had intended to install new transmission equipment shortly before the station's licence was discontinued, told the CRTC that the equipment would be in place by August 27, when the station is scheduled to resume broadcasting.

CFMX's new licence will only be valid for a period of three years, instead of the usual five-year term.

"Friends of CFMX" will be continued as an advisory group for station programming.

Man escapes, car totalled in weekend crash

A Newmarket man escaped with only minor injuries when his car was destroyed during an accident on Highway 35 June 29.

Twenty-year-old Mark Dennys was northbound on Highway 35 near the Victoria County line at 2:50 a.m. when he lost control of his 1978 Honda. Dennys' car left the northbound lane and entered a ditch before striking a culvert. The impact of the crash rolled the car and demolished it, but Dennys was not seriously hurt.

Dennys was charged with careless driving after the incident, which was investigated by PC Weldon Popp.

OPP appreciation week

This week is OPP Appreciation Week, and Minden residents will have an opportunity for a closer look at the workings of the Minden OPP.

The special week, which is being sponsored by the Minden BIA, will bring the OPP display trailer to the main street. The trailer depicts the various uniforms of the OPP and includes displays and other information on the work of the force. It will be parked outside the Bank of Commerce Friday, Saturday and Sunday, and will be open to visitors during normal business hours.

Crime

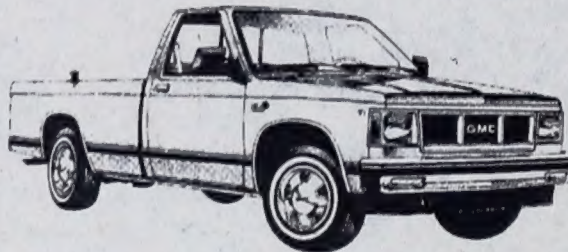

Police are still baffled in the search for suspects in two recent robberies in Haliburton.

Lon Duncombe, manager of the Haliburton Radio Shack store, came to work last week to find that a 14-inch Magnavox colour T.V. had been removed from his store. The date was June 30, and while police in Haliburton began an investigation into the crime, another bold theft was carried out, this time at the nearby Bank of Montreal.

On July 2 an unknown thief approached the bank building with what police suspect may have been a shovel. The thief proceeded to dig up a cedar shrub in front of the building, a plant which sources have valued at roughly $30. OPP investigating officers have not yet ascertained an exact motive for the crime, but it is possible that the thief originally approached the bank with the intention of tunneling into the vault, and decided to steal the cedar tree only when attempts to dig under the foundation of the bank proved fruitless.

Sixty attend anti-nuclear meeting

Over 60 Haliburton County residents were on hand last Tuesday evening (June 29) to hear some dire predictions concerning the future of the earth.

The meeting was sponsored by People for Peace, an organization concerned about the escalation of the nuclear arms race and advocating a freeze in future weapons development with a subsequent reduction in the stocks of nuclear weapons.

Both the organizer and the guest speakers were impressed with the number of citizens who attended the meeting. Norman Alcock, a leading anti-nuclear spokesman, and Dr. Eric Letonsky, representing an organization called Physicians for Nuclear Responsibility, were clearly impressed with the number of people in attendance. "It is amazing, the number here," Alcock commented. "If the same number showed up in Toronto, in proportion to that city's population, it would be a gigantic turnout."

The meeting, which was held in the Anson, Hindon and Minden council chambers was chaired by Michael Collins, a prominent local spokesman in the fight against acid rain.

Dr. Letonsky was the first to address the gathering. He presented a slide show which illustrated the horrors which would result from a nuclear war. Many of the slides showed the devastation which occurred in Japan when a nuclear bomb was dropped on the city of Hiroshima.

Letonsky pointed out that in the case of a nuclear attack on, for example, Toronto, the individuals in an area eight miles from the centre of the blast would suffer third degree burns. He said that all medical facilities throughout North America suitable for treating burn patients, if they were operational, would be unable to meet the needs of the victims. The doctor pointed out that such blast would likely kill or injure 80% of all medical personnel in the centre of the city, that hospitals would be wiped out and drug supplies contaminated. Communications and transportation services would also be nonexistent.

Letonsky also noted that radioactive fallout from the explosion over Toronto could reach as far as Muskoka, further extending the devastation caused by the explosion.

He said that the organization which he represents has said that nuclear war is the greatest threat facing mankind. "Even the worst possible plague could not equal the horrors which would follow a nuclear blast," he commented.

Norman Alcock, a former professor of strategic studies at the University of Toronto, also addressed the meeting. He is an internationally known advocate of nuclear disarmament and recently attended the United Nations Conference on Disarmament.

He told the meeting that only individuals, like those in attendance, could stop the growth in nuclear weaponry. Comparing the cause to the freeing of the slaves in the United States, Alcock pointed out, "It was the people, not the government, who were responsible for the abolition of slavery." He also suggested that the fight was similar to that waged by citizens in colonial states. "People, not governments, will bring the nuclear arms race to a halt," Alcock commented.

Local ministers Reverend Douglas Miller and Father George Elliott also addressed the gathering. They stressed their belief that the average citizen needs to take the initiative in matters of world peace.

County Warden Ron Gambell also addressed the meeting. He spoke after the film Hiroshima Revisited was shown. He noted that on occasions such as this he usually has something humorous to say, but he felt the grim information brought out at the meeting had eliminated any opportunity for levity. The Warden has extended an invitation to Dr. Letonsky to present his slide show at the September meeting of Haliburton County council.

No time to wait

Haliburton County appears to be in for a fleecing once again. A report, released two weeks ago has suggested that Peterborough would be the best location for the Kawana Canoe Museum.

The report suggests that the collection should be moved from its present location in Stanhope Township and housed in a building on the campus of Trent University. The report suggests that Peterborough is favoured because it is in a major tourist centre, is adjacent to a river and the museum would be tied in with a university for research purposes.

The consequences for Haliburton County are numerous. What could be a major tourist attraction will be lost forever. The benefits of a world class museum, the attention and traffic it generates, the accompanying promotion from all sources, would be lost forever. The employment which would be generated during construction and later in the operation of the museum would be lost forever. The benefits to Haliburton County would have a greater impact than in Peterborough, a community already with a strong industrial and tourism base.

The consultants' report is described as "interim". As tentative as their suggestions may be, they represent the first major step at stripping the county of the canoe museum.

If the citizens of Haliburton County care about the future of the Highlands, if they feel, as we do, that any plan to relocate the museum outside of the county fleeces the area of an important potential tourist attraction, they should speak up. Waiting until they break the ground in Peterborough will be too late.

Lunar assurance

There is something serene, reassuring, even regal about the total lunar eclipse that interrupted the sleep of so many early Thursday morning.

As we mere mortals on terra firma grapple with monsters such as inflation, unemployment, war, famine and many man-made ills that plague us, the inevitable ticking of the cosmic clock continues. No fanfare. No grand production. No interruption by strikes or demonstrators.

Nature, as always in charge, took over Tuesday morning right on schedule. Slowly the face of the moon disappeared into the earth's shadow, glowed for a short while, and then reappeared in equally measured progression. A grand show, awesome in its simplicity.

Our world may be in turmoil, however we can take at least some consolation in the fact that the universe is unfolding as it should.

Canada Day

Canada Day concerns

-by John Eakins, M.P.-

As we celebrated Canada's birthday last week, we were all concerned about the future of our country, which is going through some very difficult days.

Always in the past when we have undergone periods of storm and trouble, we have been sustained by our national pride and our determination to uphold the proud traditions of our heritage. Today, more than ever before perhaps, our strength is derived from the very diversity of the people who make up this nation, Canada.

Most Canadians have a dream about this great country of ours. There have been times when it seemed we had come a long way toward developing a society which encompassed understanding and generosity, as well as respect for the rights of the individual. Sometimes it even seemed possible that we, as a nation, could fulfill our own unique destiny, and show the world the way to devise a national community in which people of diverse origins could live, love and work together, lighting the way to the achievement of an international community with similar understanding.

Now that we are beset by problems on every side - inflation, persistently high interest rates which threaten homeowners, businessmen and farmers, lay-offs and escalating unemployment - are we in danger of losing our ideals, our dreams for our own future and the future of Canada?

If we are to have any hope of meeting the incredible challenges which face us, we must work together, summoning all our intelligence, all our dedication, all our strength. We must submerge our differences in the common cause of the survival and prosperity of our country.

Here in Canada, we face problems which are common to many nations and many people on this crowded and troubled planet. Regardless of present setbacks, we here in Canada are still among the most fortunate people in the world...in terms of natural resources, cultural enrichment and personal freedom.

The maple tree has, for generations, been considered symbolic of Canada. More than a century ago, that symbolic tree was spoken of in these terms: "This tree - the maple - which grows in our valleys...at first young and beaten by the storm, pines away, painfully feeding itself from the earth, but it soon springs up tall and strong, and faces the tempest and triumphs over the wind which cannot shake it any more. The maple is the king of the forest, it is the symbol of the Canadian people."

We are certainly in the process of being "beaten by the storm". Some people may be tempted to "pine away", turning from the difficult task of solving our fundamental problems. However, I believe that for the most part, we are determined to gather our resources and work together to solve our problems, to do what must be done, to ensure that this country will spring up "tall and strong" once again.

Although I am aware my opinion will make no difference in the final decision regarding the Kawana Canoe Museum, I just want to say I agree wholeheartedly with Mr. Brandon's views on the subject. It would be a very great loss to the County if this exhibit is allowed to go. I sincerely hope the many organizations and concerned individuals will make every effort to prevent this happening.

A special 'thank you' is in order to the Municipality of Dysart et al for the office space, co-operation and help from their staff and for the facilities which they have provided to the Haliburton County Home Support Services. This assistance has been most encouraging and positive in enabling this group to provide co-ordinating services and a base for volunteers to meet and work on a regular basis.

Our office has been relocated in the newly renovated office space beside the river on Maple Street, and we are extremely pleased with this new building.

May we extend to our many dedicated volunteers a 'thank you' for their willing and cheerful service which they provide to many senior and handicapped persons in Haliburton County through the following programs: Meals on Wheels, Wheels to Meals, Friendly visiting, Fone-a-Friend, Transportation, Information Centre, Income Tax Assistance, Swim and Exercise Programs.

We publish a newsletter and invite your readers to drop in to our office and pick up a copy of our Spring issue. We are open each day from 10:00 - 2:30 p.m.

Canada Day, West Guilford

It's the spirit that counts. West Guilford's Canada Day picnic was perfect proof of the old adage. The tiny community was host to the biggest Canada Day celebration in the county July 1, drawing hundreds of people from around the county to a day of activities at the West Guilford Community Hall.

Pie baking, three-legged races and horseshoes were all part of a program that began with official ceremonies in the morning and would end up with fireworks after dusk. Contests took in every possibility where competition is concerned, ranging from the rolling pin throw, where ladies over 16 tried their skill at hitting a dummy with a rolling pin, to more traditional sports such as log sawing, swimming and baseball.

Ron Stackhouse and Bernie Nicholls, West Guilford natives and major figures in the NHL, helped with the July 1 festivities. Ron showed a considerable capacity for pie as a judge of the pie baking contest, although he didn't recognize mom's home cooking the way he should. Mr. Stackhouse unknowingly chose his mother's pie a meager third, but mother and son seemed on good terms nonetheless when it was all over. Bernie was the man of the moment in most of the activities, getting a solid workout heaving softballs and retrieving rolling pins. His first place finish in the softball throw went undisputed, but when he carried his partner across the line in the three legged race, many participants were skeptical of Nicholls' victory sign after the race.

A flea market at the community hall offered some spectacular baked goods and the usually enticing array of second hand odds and ends. Proceeds from sales went to a number of groups who ran tables at the market. To judge from the crowds, organizations in and around West Guilford will be able to continue with the activities that brought spirit to the day.

Here are the results from the West Guilford Canada Day festivities:

from the chamber

by Bob Stinson

Throughout the county during the last few weeks we have talked with many business operators who were concerned that business was very slow. We pointed out that it was still only June and we didn't think things were any slower than last year at this time as far as tourism is concerned.

Well, the rush is on. On Thursday, July 1st, businesses that were open were over-run with customers and it's been going on ever since. Many were buckling under the sudden pressure and were finding it difficult to retain their normal friendly disposition. The weather man has even become co-operative and we are apparently promised more of the same.

As we suspected many people are waiting until the last minute to make their holiday plans and as a result our information centres are extremely busy attempting to provide updated vacancy reports. Many also are experiencing their first visit to the Highlands and are looking for guidance to attractions and facilities. They are finding our Chamber directory very helpful for this purpose.

More "happenings" in July

Last week we covered all of the events occurring in July that we had information on. Since that time we have been provided with details on even more activities and we suggest you add these to your list of things to see and do this month.

Windsurfing is becoming a very popular sport in our region and instructions and board rentals are now available at a number of central locations. The first of a series of sail board racing regattas is planned for Lake Kashagawigamog next weekend based at Locarno Resort. Nick Lehoczy tells us he has some professional teams competing in their own class and spectators will be in for some interesting displays of wind surfing expertise. Registration begins at 10:00 a.m. at the lodge.

Also this weekend is the Minden Figure Skating Club Dance-a-thon to raise funds for the Minden Community Centre Sound System. Dancers are seeking pledges for each hour that they dance and they will be getting underway at 9:00 a.m. Saturday and continuing through Sunday it is expected. If you don't wish to dance you may wish to sponsor a participant and drop in and watch the action.

The Minden Library and Cultural Centre is a busy spot this month with the gallery currently displaying paintings by local artists Walter Noice and Agnes Jamieson. From July 13 to 28 the works of Bruce Mills will be shown and both of these exhibits illustrate what extremely fine talent we have within our midst. In the Library they are showing free Children's movies on July 9, 16, 23 and 30th at 7:15 and 8:15 p.m. and on July 22 at 3:30 p.m. a puppet show, "The Deck-hands" will be there.

The Leslie M. Frost Natural Resources Centre on Highway 35 near Dorset has a number of interesting programs running throughout the summer and a complete descriptive brochure is available at our office or their visitor centre. Programs and tours will be conducted that will provide you with information on rocks and minerals, fossils of Ontario, prospecting, canoe handling, fishing, conservation and many, many other subjects. The centre is open to the public daily and a call in advance will ensure that you will be planning your visit when something of interest to you is taking place.

The new Cardiff Shopping Centre opens officially this week on Wednesday morning and we shall be in attendance and tell you all about it in next week's column.

Co-op advertising

By now all accommodation operators should have received their mailing from Central Ontario Travel Association in regard to the full page advertisement in the Toronto Star. Note that in order to participate copy must be in by the end of this week. A representative of the advertising agency will be picking up copy at the Chamber towards the end of the week and we can pass yours along if you bring it in.

We also wish to inform you that the insertion date for the U.S. papers is July 25 rather than the 18th as shown in their newsletter.

Don't miss this excellent opportunity to track down some last minute bookings.

ABILITY FUND

Four accidents mar July 1 holiday weekend

The weekend was a bad one for traffic mishaps on cottage roads, but no one was seriously hurt in four separate single car accidents that caused nearly $10,000 in damages.

Seventeen-year-old Doug Watson of Ottawa was driving on Buckside road in Stanhope Sunday night when his 1979 Chevrolet hit a patch of washboard surface and went out of control. The vehicle left the road and hit a tree, causing $1,500 in damage, but Watson escaped unscathed. He was not charged in the incident.

Paul Dunn, 16, of Oshawa, sustained only a minor scratch and his twelve-year old brother was injured when they rolled over in a 1982 Renault on Kennaway Road in Dudley township.

Dunn was rounding a curve in the road Sunday afternoon when the car stalled and went out of control in loose gravel. Passenger Ian Dunn was not injured in the crash, which caused $2,000 damage to the car.

An untimely blowout put Douglas Robertson's 1971 Plymouth in the ditch Sunday morning, but despite $3,000 in damages to the car, Robertson was not hurt. The incident occurred Sunday at 2 a.m. on Highway 118 near Haliburton.

James Hall was the only one of the four drivers charged for his misadventures on the weekend. The twenty-seven-year-old Oshawa resident was driving on Highway 121 near Haliburton Road 3 Saturday at 4:15 a.m. when he lost control of his 1981 Chevrolet. The vehicle crashed down an embankment and was worth $3,000 less than when it started, by the time it came to a halt. Hall, who was unhurt in the crash, was charged by Minden OPP with careless driving.

New sculptures added to collection

Two striking pieces have been added to the permanent collection at the Agnes Jamieson Art Gallery in Minden.

Created by sculptor George Pratt, a former resident of Minden, the works were received Saturday.

The first of the two is a pair of bears. Sculpted from limestone found in Texas, the bears were given in memory of John Harrison who died earlier this year. Friends of the former local politician and avid outdoorsman made the donation on his behalf.

The sculptor described his work this way, "... (the bears are) an abstraction exemplary of the strength and grace of spirit of all the earth's wild creatures."

The other work is a pair of gulls emerging gracefully from a rough chunk of alabaster. This work has been donated by George Pratt who noted in his covering letter that the stone was already well travelled. Mined from an alabaster pit at Carrara, Italy, where Michaelangelo received much of his raw material, Pratt bought the piece in New York City, sculpted it on the shores of the Pacific Ocean at his gallery in Vancouver and now has sent it back across the continent to Minden. "I'm sending something home," the sculptor commented in his letter.

The sculptor noted that the works are not only for visual enjoyment, but he has intended them to be touched as well. Pratt has requested the pieces be placed in a location where visitors can enjoy the work by feeling them. He has noted that if they become soiled, they can be easily washed clean with warm soapy water.

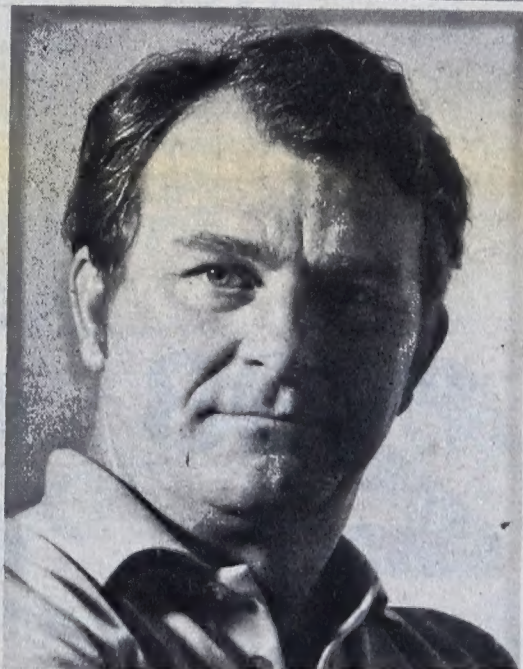

The pieces should be on display at the gallery as soon as suitable display shelves can be constructed.

Summer hours

The Agnes Jamieson Gallery is now open every day of the week (except Sundays) and will continue with this schedule through the summer. The hours of operation are from 10 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m.

On Thursdays the gallery will be open during the noon hour and in the evening from 7:30 to 8:30.

The show of works by Dr. Jamieson and Walter Noice continues until July 6. Starting July 8 is the art of Bruce Mills. Bruce Mills has been a resident of Haliburton for many years and is now leaving the Highlands. His paintings have been used in the past as teaching aids at the high school. His work will be on display until July 24.

Stretching their wings as they emerge from a block of alabaster, a pair of gulls is one of two sculptures recently donated to the Agnes Jamieson Gallery. Sculptor George Pratt, a former Minden resident, crafted the work above, and a pair of bears especially for the gallery.

If you live in Waterloo Region, water conservation has already become a fact of life. With available supplies of groundwater approaching their limits, the Region is faced with either water conservation or an expensive program of reservoirs and pipelines to supply its growing needs.

Most of us associate water shortages only with requests to curtail lawn-watering during a summer drought or with the dust bowl of the 1930's. But water conservation is likely to take on a different face in many parts of Canada within the next decade. Canadians in 1980 used 26.3 billion gallons of water each day, and Environment Canada estimates this usage will more than double by the turn of the century. Only about 9% of this is actually consumed, that is, not returned to the water system from where it was taken, but much of the rest is used for industrial or agricultural uses which can create pollution unless proper treatment is carried out.

If Canada faced an extended drought today, the effects would be significantly different from the 1930's experience. More Canadians now are concentrated in urban centres, and more of our industries depend on large quantities of fresh water. Generation of electricity would suffer in a shortage, as would industries such as pulp and paper which are major water consumers.

To cope more readily, the federal government is looking closely at climate data to give a better warning of impending water shortages. Several massive water diversions have also been proposed, such as diverting the headwaters of the Mackenzie River southwards to slake the thirsty prairies, but the environmental effects of these massive projects would be enormous. In the long term, the adoption of programs to conserve this most precious of liquids will have to become part of the lifestyle of most communities.

Vandals damage flowerbeds

Vandals destroyed a large number of shrubs and flowers in Minden flowerbeds sometime last weekend, causing damages that the Minden and District Horticultural Society estimates will cost hundreds of dollars to restore.

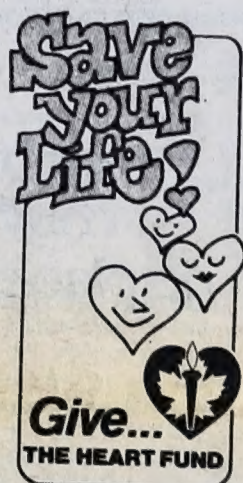

The vandals struck a flower bed on the north side of the Gull River sometime between Saturday night and Sunday morning, pulling out the flowers which spell out "Minden". Shrubs and flowers in planters on the Main Street were also found destroyed early Sunday morning by O.P.P. officers investigating the call. Sunday night the Minden and District Horticultural Society, the group which plants the gardens on a volunteer basis each year, had its sign stolen from the riverbank by what is suspected to be the same group.

The "Minden" flower bed was replanted by Horticultural Society volunteers Monday, and work was also begun on planters on Main Street.

According to the society's chairwoman Jean Lacey, the cost of replacing the plants and the society's sign will be in the "hundreds of dollars". Mrs. Lacey told The Times Monday that the OPP is conducting an investigation into the vandalism, although she added that there are no suspects yet.

This flowerbed, on the banks of the Gull River in Minden, was ravaged by vandals late Saturday night. Plants were yanked from the bed and strewn about the grass in a senseless display of destruction. A number of planters on Main Street were also damaged.

Haliburton takes league lead

The Haliburton team in the county Ladies Softball League has moved into first place after winning a pair of games last week. The Haliburton entry moved ahead of the West Guilford team, leaving it tied with Minden Junior and Seniors in second spot.

The first victory for Haliburton came Monday evening (June 28) when they defeated West Guilford 17 - 16. It was a come-from behind win for Haliburton as they were trailing 16 - 6 midway through the game before they surged ahead of the visitors. Haliburton was led by Sheila Elston, Wendy Roberts and Wanda Scott. The winning pitcher was Nancy Maughan, with the loss going to Joan McKay.

In other Monday night contests, Minden Dixie Lee Seniors defeated Carnarvon 13 - 7. Barb Barnhart and Jane Symonds were hot bats for the Seniors with Lyn Winans picking up her first win for the Seniors on the mound.

The Juniors from Minden travelled to Wilberforce and came out on top of a 12 - 10 score. Terry Dillon and Charlene Austin led the way for the Juniors. Wilberforce had a good night from Anne Alden with three runs batted in. Kim Mumford and Jo Olszewski also turned in excellent performances for Wilberforce.

Tuesday evening in West Guilford, the Carnarvon team went down to a 37 - 7 defeat at

The Setting

A short distance down a lazy country lane just off the South Lake Road east of Minden brings you to the cosy and inviting AUSTRIAN VILLAGE Restaurant.

The chalet style eatery is neatly tucked away in the folds of the Haliburton Highlands, far from the noise and bustle of the summer season, close to nature, and yet just a short drive from Highway 35. A small brook gurgles past the patio entrance, the flower boxes spill over with multi-coloured blooms.

Choose your spot for dining...to fully enjoy the beauty of the Highlands, select an umbrella shaded table outdoors, or move inside to the dining room. Tastefully decorated with designs of Canadian and European origin, the dining room provides an intimate setting for an enjoyable evening.

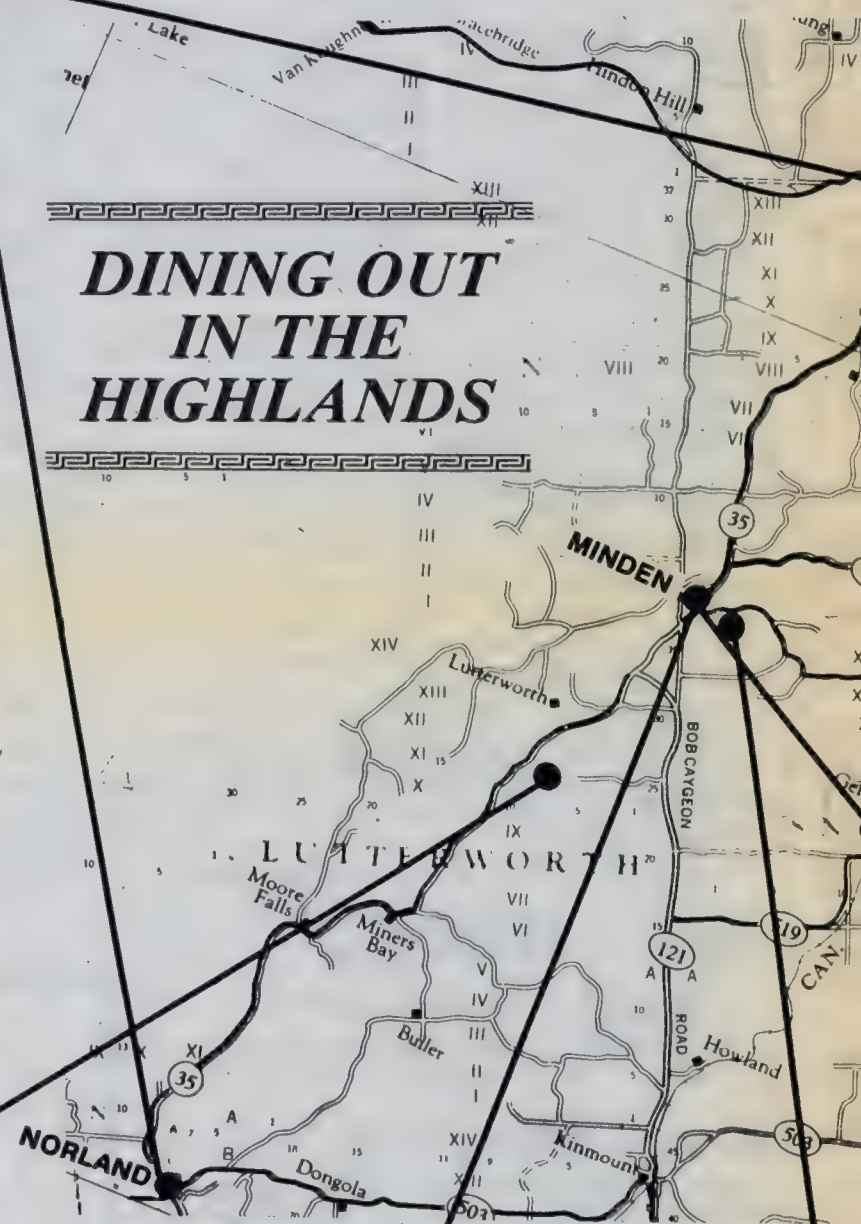

Choose from these specialties of the house. Wiener Zwiebel Rostbraten - a 12 to 14 oz. rib steak served with crispy onion and home fried potatoes; or Gefutte Rinsrouladen "Wiener" - a Viennese favourite - stuffed rolled braised beef steaks in beer sauce with tasty red cabbage and fluffy dumplings; or a traditional favourite, Wiener Schnitzel - a tender veal cutlet, breaded and pan fried to a crisp golden brown and garnished with lemon wedge.

For dessert select apple strudel, Sachertorte (a famous European chocolate cake) or the Black Forest cake - all made on the premises. Top your meal with an Austrian Coffee, a creation of the Austrian Village Restaurant.

Your meal will be prepared with care and attention to every detail, by Erwin and Sylvia Wingat, owners and hosts. They bring 25 years restaurant experience to the Austrian Village and take pride in ensuring each meal is prepared and served in the European dining tradition.

The Austrian Village Restaurant is located off the South Lake Road, just east of Highway 35 at Minden. Open every day except Mondays, the Austrian Village Restaurant is fully licenced and all major credit cards are accepted. Call 286-1081 for reservations.

by Ron Reid - Federation of Ontario Naturalists

Across northern Ontario, our stock of wild rivers is diminishing. Hydro dams have tamed the falls and rapids of many, and the wastes of the pulp and paper and mining industries have fouled many more. If we are to save the opportunity for generations beyond our own to know the special feeling of a river trip, we must set aside a few of the best that remain.

We do have the chance to do that, through the Strategic Land Use Planning process that is now evolving. But in at least two cases, the Ministry of Natural Resources' resolve seems about as firm as jelly on a wall.

The first is the mighty

Missinaibi, which stretches from its headwaters east of Wawa to James Bay. The Missinaibi is without question the best of northeastern Ontario's rivers, and the only one left that can be protected in its entirety. It has been a park reserve for several years, but now the Ministry proposes to establish only the upper half as a park, and to delay and decision on the remainder.

The other case involves the Spanish, a pretty, rock-rimmed river that winds its way through the pine country west of Sudbury. The remaining wild stretch of the Spanish was a candidate for a waterway park a year ago, but now has been dropped from the proposed list. The reason is clear - INCO wants to build two power dams on the Spanish to produce electricity for its Sudbury mills. But why should we allow INCO to ruin another fine river when Ontario Hydro is suffering the embarrassment of a whopping 40% surplus in generating capacity, and looking for new markets to use this excess?

Both these rivers could be opportunities lost, unless far-sighted Ontarians come to their defence. The Honourable Alan Pope has said that he will base his decisions on future parks largely on the public response he receives. If you agree that both the Spanish and the Missinaibi should be preserved in their natural state, please write to Mr. Pope, Minister of Natural Resources, Queen's Park, Toronto. M7A 1W3.

Title: The Damn Canadians Hanged Louis Reil.
Author: James McNamee.

Joe Campbell was a real westerner. Born in the Hudson's Bay Territory, he didn't think much of them damn Canadians who were trickling into the west, who especially if they were from Ontario. More to his taste were men like Louis Reil, who had once worked for the Campbell brothers. Joe liked and respected Reil - maybe because they were both one-eighth Chipewyn.

In the fall of 1884, Joe set out from Fort Benton,

Missouri, to see how things were in Canada, and his brother was thinking of moving the family business north of the line. But his brother insisted that Joe take his twelve-year-old nephew along with him. Joe thought the boy was "weak in the head and other places", and refused: he cursed and ranted but in the end he gave in.

Many years later the nephew recalls; in a marvellously dead-pan account, the hair-raising adventures and hilarious misadventures that landed the two of them smack in the middle of the Riel Rebellion. How they escaped and how they ensured that their old friend was given a proper burial form the core around which James McNamee had woven this colourful and enormously funny novel. In the process he may well have created a new folk hero for the Canadian west.

46 Ontario communities are helping police establish Neighbourhood Watch as part of the Experience '82 summer program.

These students canvass the neighbourhoods, explaining Neighbourhood Watch and encouraging people to get involved. Anyone interested in starting a Neighbourhood Watch group should contact the local police department to arrange an organizational meeting.

Crime prevention program growing

The Neighbourhood Watch program has been given a boost by an Ontario Legislature resolution endorsing the program and encouraging interested citizens to form their own Neighbourhood Watch groups under the guidance of local police forces.

Introducing the resolution, York Centre MPP Don Cousens told the House that residential crime is on the increase throughout Ontario and Canada. Neighbourhood Watch is designed to combat such crime through a program of neighbours watching out for one another's property at times when break-ins and vandalism are most likely to occur.

"Criminals take advantage of opportunities created by unsuspecting and unprepared people — people who leave their doors unlocked, their car keys in the ignition and allow mail and newspapers to pile up in their absence," Mr. Cousens explained. "Opportunities for such crimes are reduced when neighbours look out for each other's interests."

Although Neighbourhood Watch is catching on in many communities across the province, its development to date has been haphazard. Sgt. Fred Tufnell, community relations officer with the York Regional Police, has sponsored and supported a number of Neighbourhood Watch groups and says it is difficult to determine how well the program works when it is scattered.

The ultimate goal of Neighbourhood Watch is the involvement of citizens in all areas of Canada who will be trained to report suspicious activities in their neighbourhoods; other aims are the promotion of home security methods, personal property registration and general awareness of crime prevention.

To this end, 58 students in

We were invited to the home of Stanley Blears, where we hadn't been for years, to a lovely dinner, which was pot-luck - lots of good food, but not any duck. After we had eaten, and were all satisfied, our charming hostess stood up and replied, "We have a couple sitting right here who have been married for sixty-four years". Then she called on a speech by the groom. I was wishing I could get out of the room, I was taken so by surprise to try to respond. It wouldn't be wise. We were presented with a lovely flower, and card by members of the Auxiliary. We thought the Blears lovely home was a grand place to be.

We were sorry to miss the service in the chapel Sunday night. It was taken by the Thompsons and the Parkers who do things just right. We are glad to hear Peter Fearrey will soon be back, as he was stricken with a real bad attack.

Tuesday morning Rev. Stan Rukin of the Haliburton Full Gospel Lighthouse came down and took the service, but didn't bring his spouse. Fred Ballard came to play the hymns once more, as he has done so many times before. Tuesday night Everett Fearrey and Vera Lyn came up to entertain us once again, and said Peter would soon be back again, to lend a helping hand. By the way, we thought is Ken Fielding didn't soon get some help, we would have to raise his pay.

Wednesday noon, we had a barbeque outside our back door. The cooks barbequed hamburgs, and hot dogs galore. We had ice cream, and soft drinks of many kinds. The wind was rather cool, but we really didn't mind.

The ladies in the craft room making lovely dolls, also knitting afghans, and nice knitted shawls.

We have a new waitress whose name is Michelle. She seems to be getting along very well.

The ladies of the Kinmount Parish brought in a lovely lunch this Canada Day. Also a beautiful birthday cake in the shape of a boat, by the way. We thought this was a real nice thing to do, and we say a big "Thank You" to you.

Some members of the Kinsmen Club, I didn't get their names, came up here Thursday night, and put on the Bingo games.

It was sing-song time again this Friday afternoon. Grace Coburn came along with no one to play the tunes. When Ray Jenkins came along to play by the way. He played some grand old songs and we sang them with a will - such as "Billy Boy" and "Mocking Bird Hill". Then Grace sang "Amazing Grace", and "The End of a Perfect Day".

A woman stood up in divorce court and said she did not want alimony. "All I want," she said, "is for my husband to leave me as he found me." "And how was that?" asked the judge. "I was a widow," she replied.

Grants are popular

Twenty-five Victoria County farmers have received financial assistance to date through the Ontario Farm Adjustment Program.

All of these farmers are receiving the interest reduction grants of 5% on their floating rate loans at their banks. Their authorized lines of credit total over $7 million.

In addition, eight of these Victoria County farmers have received additional operating loans through their banks, guaranteed by the Province.

Another 20 Victoria farmers have applications at some stage of processing at the moment. Many of these farmers completed filling out their applications late in June, to meet the June 30th deadline to qualify for back-dating the interest rebate grants.

Across Ontario 1,118 farmers have had their applications for assistance under the O.F.A.A.P. approved by the middle of June. This is a co-operative program between the Ontario Ministry of Agriculture and Food and the banks and financial institutions in the Province.

The program is of particular help to young and beginning farmers, with almost half of those receiving assistance being under 35 years of age. And 85 per cent of the applicants have annual farm production valued at over $50,000.

Any farmers wishing more information on the Farm Adjustment Assistance Program should contact their local banker or their County Agricultural Office.

On behalf of the Agnes Jamieson Gallery, I would like to thank the following people who were such a help to us. Apart from the executive, these people kept the Gallery open. The Library Staff, during the Children's show which closed May 29. In June, Daisy Bates, Audrey Currie, Shirley Brandon, Richarda Rogers, Wendy Wilkins, Marjorie Windover, Gaila Heal, Phyllis Campbell, Bob Herlihey and Allan Stott. Denzil Cox who kindly used his truck to bring the Sue Tabuchi paintings from Haliburton. Cy Heal helped hang them, and Allan Stott took the pictures down and helped wrap them. Al Barron helped return them to Haliburton. Bette and Bob Herlihey were a great help in the hanging of Noice, Jamieson Paintings. Their cheerful and generous contribution is much appreciated by the Agnes Jamieson Gallery. Sorry if we have forgotten any of the June Helpers. Incidentally, due to popular demand, the Noice, Jamieson exhibit will remain through July 10th.

The Times Staff were delighted to have a visitor on Tuesday all the way from Yugoslavia. Twelve year old Josip Konstantinovic who is visiting with his aunt, Mrs. Vicki Cross and her family of Minden, had a quick tour of the office and saw how things are done at The Times. Josip is a very personable young man and we wish him a very happy holiday here in Minden.

Tammy Prentice, was feted at another lovely shower held last Wednesday, June 30 at the home of her Grandmother Bea Hamilton of Lutterworth Estates. There were at least thirty people on hand and Tammy received many beautiful gifts after which the guests feasted on dainty sandwiches, little cakes and tea or coffee. It was a glorious day so the shower was held out of doors. We wish Tammy and her husband to be. Shane McKelvey a very happy life together.

Mr. and Mrs. Keith MacIntosh of Oshawa visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey MacIntosh of Minden and also her family in Maple Lake.

Mrs. John Kuchelema of Toronto is spending a month's vacation at her cottage in Maple Lake.

Greg Harrison of Maple Lake, has arrived home from Sault Ste. Marie after a pleasant visit with his sisters.
